Commission Appoints H. L. Stevens To Position as City Secretary

Herschell L. F. Stevens assumed duties as Canyon's city secretary this week after being appointed by the new city commission on Saturday.

Stevens, 34, is a Canyon resident, having lived here for the past 4½ years. Immediately prior to taking the position with the city, Stevens was property manager at West Texas State College.

A graduate of Greenville High School in Greenville, Okla., Stevens attended Southeastern State Teachers College, Durant, Okla., and Ardmore Business College, Ardmore, Okla.

He served in the Army from May of 1943 to January, 1948, and reentered service in October, 1948. His last three years of service was with the ROTC unit at West Texas State. He received his discharge from the Army in 1946 and began working for the college.

Church Slates Youth Revival

A three day youth revival will be held this weekend at the First Baptist Church.

Leading the meeting, which starts Friday, will be Art Brewer, director of the Baptist Student Union at West Texas State College, and James Johnson, music director of the church.

Announce Expansion Of FHA Program

An expanded farm housing loan program, designed to speed up farm building construction improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure, was announced this week by Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration State Director, according to Ray Debenport, the agency's local county supervisor.

Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production and on which the operator plans to produce at least $400 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may qualify for the 4 per cent long-term loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements.

Formerly an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Loans may be made to build, improve or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

An FHA representative is available in the court house in Canyon on Monday of each week.

Cub Scouts Launch Clean-up Campaign

Pack 31 of the Cub Scouts will start a clean-up campaign Thursday afternoon to carry out their theme of "Keep America Beautiful."

Cubs will meet at the courthouse at 3:30 p. m. to clean streets between First and Ninth Avenues.

Beginning Sunday at 11 a. m., the Rev. Leon Clay, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Sanger, will lead an eight day revival at the Calvary Baptist Church April 13-20.

Services will be at 8 p. m. and 7 a. m. each day during the period except Sundays, when services will be held at the regular times, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. The morning services will be preceded by breakfast, for which there will be no charge.

Song leader for the revival will be Ronnie Smith, a senior majoring in music at West Texas State College. Formerly the music director at Calvary Baptist Church, he now holds the same position at the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church in Amarillo.

Five departments will be in charge of the various services. They are the primary, junior, intermediate, young people and the men's departments.

Church Revival Begins Tonight

First service of a general revival will be at 7:30 tonight in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Quay Parmer of Fort Worth, evangelist, and Earl Ward of Waco, full-time revival singer, leading the meeting.

Preceded by a 24 hour prayer vigil, the revival will run through April 20, with services at 7:30 p. m. each day. Morning services will be held at 7 a. m. except on the two Saturdays and Sundays in the period.

Serving in his 12th year as a full-time evangelist, the Rev. Parmer served as an army chaplain for five years, including two years with a combat division in Europe. He was a pastor for seven years before devoting his time to evangelism.

The Rev. Parmer received his Master of Theology degree from Emory University and his divinity degree from the Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University. He has also studied at Bob Jones University and Asbury College.

The Rev. Parmer has held revivals in more than 250 churches in 15 states.

A public school teacher before World War II, Ward has devoted full time to evangelistic work since the war. A graduate of Baylor University, he received his master's degree from the University of Southern California.

An invitation to attend these services has been extended to the community by the Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Game Warden Pond Explains Law Governing New State Fishing License

With warmer weather coming on and fishing starting to pick up, Game Warden Woody Pond explained the new licensing laws this week for those who have not understood them.

Pond said that he has been issuing warnings mostly up to now, but soon he must begin filing on fishermen who need licenses and do not have them.

In past years, very few people who fished in their home counties needed licenses except those who used artificial bait. Now, almost everyone needs a license, which costs $2.15.

The last session of the legislature passed a law which requires salt or fresh water sport fishermen to have a license except: 1. Those who are under 17 or over 65 years of age; 2. Those who fish only with a trotline, throwline or ordinary pole and line and having no reel or other winding device if they are fishing in the county in which they reside; 3. Those who fish on property which they own or upon which they reside; and 4. Those who have a commercial fisherman's license; but if they have a commercial license then they must observe commercial size limits, and have licenses for their boats, trawls, oyster dredges or nets of any kind if they are used.

Pond said that there are no size limits in the 28 Panhandle counties and there is no closed season on fishing. This year there is a closed season on white bass caught in Buffalo Lake. The game and fish commission stocked 1500 spawning size white bass in the lake in an attempt to establish the breed there.

Pond said that anyone who catches a white bass in Buffalo should throw it back without damaging the fish. White bass are also known as sand bass or sandies.

Catch limits have been set on bass and channel catfish. No fisherman can take more than 15 of each type per day, and can have no more than 30 of each type in his possession. There are no other limits set by the state. Lakes in the area may have individual regulations which should be checked by fishermen.

Fishing is expected to be easier in Buffalo this year, with the area from the dam to near the permit office blocked off from use by boats. Fishing docks are being constructed in the area to enable fishermen to get away from the banks and out into deeper water.

SCOUTS, LIBRARY GET GIFTS

Randall County Public Library and the Girl Scouts of America each received $76.50 from the Sue Hite Club when the club completed its annual project.

Dorothy and Charles Neblett of the University of Texas spent the Easter holidays with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Neblett.

Wheelchair, Beds Available for Loan

Three hospital beds and three wheel chairs are available for loan to those who need them from the Canyon post of the VFW. One of the wheel chairs is children's size.

The beds and wheel chairs may be borrowed by contacting Johnnie McBroom or Bill Brundige.

D. M. Wiggins Named Speaker For Annual Historical Meeting

Speaker for the 37th annual meeting May 9 of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Lubbock banker and former president of Texas Technological College.

Dr. Wiggins will address the society's evening banquet at 7 p. m., according to Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo, president of the society. The annual meeting will include a session of the executive committee at 2 p. m., and a meeting of the board of directors and members at 3 p. m.

New officers will be elected at the afternoon business meeting, and will be presented at the banquet. Committee chairmen will report and an auditor's statement will be heard.

Plans are being made for about 400 members to attend the annual dinner meeting in the West Texas State College cafeteria. The society has members in 63 of Texas' counties and in about 15 states.

Though he is a native of Louisiana, Dr. Wiggins was reared in Canadian, where he completed grade and high school work. He attended Goodnight College, transferring to Hardin-Simmons University in 1916. He was coach and principal at Burkburnett High School.

During World War I, Dr. Wiggins served at the Central Officers' Training School at Waco, and following the war, he re-entered Hardin-Simmons and received his B.A. degree in 1919.

In 1920, Dr. Wiggins returned to Canadian as principal-coach, and two years later he became superintendent of schools there. During the years 1925-30, he received the M.A. degree at Yale, did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and returned to Yale for the Ph.D. degree.

From 1926 until 1935, Dr. Wiggins was professor of education and dean of students at Hardin-Simmons. He holds the LL.D. degrees from Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech.

The speaker was named president of Texas Western College in 1935, a post he held until 1948, when he became president of Texas Tech. He resigned the presidency of the Lubbock college in 1952 to become executive vice-president and director of the Citizens National Bank in Lubbock.

Dr. Wiggins is a member of the Board of Directors of the Harvest Queen Mills and Elevator Company of Plainview, the Texas Tech Foundation, the Medical Research Foundation of Texas, Inc., Hardin-Simmons University, and the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

He is a member of the Baptist Church, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta P, Phi Delta Theta, Lubbock Country Club, and the Lubbock Club. He is listed in "Who's Who in America" and the Biographical Encyclopedia of the World.

An Open Letter

Dear Friend:

What does the future hold for you — your business — your job — your community?

This we all know — the progress of Randall County will greatly affect the progress of your business, your job, or even the value of your property.

No doubt you have heard by this time, through the newspaper or by word of mouth, that the Canyon Chamber of Commerce is holding a Community Progress Forum here April 17th and 18th.

This is your special invitation to attend this Forum. You are welcome to every session but we specifically ask that you give one hour to attend the session you are most interested in. We have two specific purposes in mind for these meetings:

1. To give you an opportunity to learn more about the true aims, objectives, policies and activities of the Chamber of Commerce.
2. To ask YOU for YOUR ideas and suggestions on what projects the Chamber of Commerce should undertake to make Randall County a better and more prosperous place in which to live, work and play.

Your suggestion at this meeting may be the beginning of a new industry for Randall County, a new civic endeavor, or any one of countless other activities that would improve the economic well being of our county and enhance the earning possibilities of you and me.

What do you say? WILL YOU SPEND ONE HOUR of your time to help form a CONSTRUCTIVE, FORWARD program for your community?

We believe you will.

Sincerely yours,

CANYON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Take a Mental Trip

Come with us on a little imaginary trip in time—back just a few years, more than we have lived but not more than many of our readers. Take backwards with you your knowledge of today's type of activities, your present knowledge of technology. Take with you especially your knowledge of how pressure groups and the federal government operate today.

The time is somewhere in the teens of the 1900's, the years that brought World War I. There have been a lot of changes since the turn of the century. Most of the people had never seen an automobile during the first decade of the new century.

Today, they're beginning to show up all over the place. There are still plenty of horses and wagons and buggies. There are some who say the auto will never replace the horse.

One group has really felt the pinch of the automobile. The harness-making industry no longer is the largest user of leather. The makers of wagons are in a business slump. Some of those people don't quite know what to do. Their sales are off, the plants have laid off workers. One manufacturer, Studebaker, has added a line of automobiles to the business of making and selling wagons.

Now suppose with us that added to this scene is today's inter-relationship of pressure groups and federal government.

The workers in the harness and wagon industry have a union, and the union keeps a lobby in Washington in a magnificent building that overlooks the capitol building where Congress meets.

The organized labor of the harness and wagon industry has set up a howl because workers are being fired off their jobs. They realize something has happened and arent quite sure what can be done about it. They know the management of the plants can't keep them at work because management is in trouble, too.

Labor and management have even worked together to keep the people at work, but sales are down and appear to be headed even lower. Harness inventories are huge and rats are having a field-day chewing the soft, tasty leather.

What's to be done? Why, turn to government. Ask for a subsidy. Ask for a tax relief. And maybe Congress can think of other forms of federal aid to the manufacturers and workers.

And just suppose with us that this had happened and Congress had given a subsidy to the harness and wagon industry. Where would our economy be today, in 1958?

We can easily see huge inventories of harness and shiny wagons with oaken-spoked wheels. There's no demand for those items, so the government has stored mounds of harness and acres of wagons. Harness is being kept in limestone caverns in Kentucky, although the damp air is bad for the leather and rodents are doing their duty. The wagons are kept in Arizona in the arid desert air. Blowing sand and the hot sun have dulled the paint, but the wood is in good shape because it may never have enough rain to rot.

The automobile industry is sick, too. Not because people refuse to buy and use cars, but because they cannot afford them—taxes are so high that little money is left over for necessities. The federal government is puting billions of dollars a year into harness and wagons. The factories keep turning them out, but they can't be used. Increased technology has even increased the output and the surplus grows in an algebraic progression.

Fantastic, you say. It couldn't happen?

Monday morning's newspapers carried a story about the same sort of thing. Organized labor, in this case the Hollywood AFL Film Council, has asked the government "to gallop to the rescue of the motion picture industry."

The council has urged industry leaders to join in a united effort to seek subsidies, tax relief and other forms of federal aid for the faltering industry.

A study of current conditions in Hollywood has been made by a professor at UCLA. He blames television, higher ticket prices and a change in the living pattern of American people for the decline. He predicts that the movie industry will never fully recover the ground it has lost since World War II.

So ask for a government subsidy. Keep on making films, and let's store them away in air-conditioned vaults. No one wants to see the movies, but we're keeping people at work. In a few years we can even put more people to work building more air-conditioned vaults to store more movies.

And while we're at it, let's just vote a subsidy to every other industry. In a short while, we can have the government print up a bunch more paper money that we can circulate. The government can raise taxes to nearly 100 per cent and then turn around and give the paper money back through subsidies.

There won't be much reason to work because what is being produced isn't being used, just stored away. But we'll all be busy making things to be stored, if for no other reason than we've got to keep busy so we can pay our taxes so the government can pay subsidies so things can be made and stored away.

Not Many Gripes

There are 57 people in the Canyon Independent School District who purchased the right to help decide how our schools should be operated.

That many citizens went to the polls Saturday and voted in the election of two men to the school board. The rest of the thousands of citizens in the district didn't bother, and we might well suppose that they didn't because they don't care what happens.

The next two years should be fairly smooth for the board. Most of the people don't care what happens, and have no right to gripe if the board doesn't do to suit them.

That's what you purchase when you go and vote. You purchase your right to a voice in your government. Each of you who didn't vote should be ashamed.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Do you remember the magazine, "Comfort—Key to the Home?"

And the Chicago Blade, with red headlines and accounts of such things as a hen hatching snake eggs—with a pen-and-ink drawing of the scene?

And Grit? (I guess every man who was a boy 50 years ago sold Grit on the street or from door to door. I did.) Grit is still being published; recently celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary and has almost a million circulation.

One beautiful morning this past Fall, at 8:10, a disheveled man on a Fort Worth street corner asked, "Mister, could you let me have three cents?"

What a way to start a day!

Can you remember when radio was sweeping the nation? (Back about 1924.) Graham McNamee was listened to by millions as he gave exciting, and excited, accounts of football games, world's series games, championship fights, triumphal receptions on Broadway and other colorful happenings.

A convict (in the Ohio prison, I believe) became famous because of radio for his piano playing, especially for "Three O'clock in the Morning." So many listeners appealed that the governor granted him his freedom and he went on a national tour. (I heard him when he played at the Connellee Theater in Eastland).

In those days, listeners tried for distance and next morning would boast about their success. One morning in Cisco, a man said, "I got Detroit." Another said, "I got New York." A third remarked, "My wife raised the window and I got chilly (Chile)." That ended the session.

I grew up in Memphis, Tenn., and I have always thought myself fairly well informed about that city. But I did not know, until the death of the five-and-ten-cent store king, Kress, that his first store was in Memphis.

W. H. Graham Jr. in the State Line Tribune: There is nothing that gives a columnist more of a thrill than being the first to reveal inside information. We have happened on some that fits into the "scoop" category and we want to pass it on.

Mrs. J. H. McDonald went to a church supper one evening last week well prepared. She took two pairs of shoes: One for show and one for comfort while she worked in the kitchen.

Mrs. Mac started off by wearing her work shoes, and so placed the Sunday best in a peper sack. When she got to the kitchen, she placed the sack in an out-of-the-way place and went to work.

After the supper had been prepared, she was ready to put on her show-off shoes and step out and greet people, but the sack and shoes were gone. It turns out that John Lovelace had just happened along and volunteered to do some clean-up work.

He thought that anything that was in an old wrinkled sack could be classed as trash, so he hauled it to the alley where he burned it with a big armload of ordinary kitchen junk.

Sure enough, Mrs. Mac's shoes were goners. She has been saying she doesn't know where they went, so we thought we'd pass this along.

Bascom Nelson in the Castro County News: Time is something we never have enough of. It is a fleeting quantity no one can feel, hear or see, but it is as real as the story about a noted lecturer a few years ago who was the second of two men slated to speak one evening. The first orator droned on and on until the audience was thoroughly mesmerized and ready to go home. When our hero was finally granted the rostrum he started out angrily: "I'm just going to tell one story and then you can go home," he said. "Once when my father was raising hogs in Iowa he decided to get rid of a bunch of carrots left over from the year before. So he fed them to the hogs. A neighbor criticized him, telling him he should cut the carrots up. "The hogs could digest them in half the time," he said. "But my father had an answer for that," the second speaker said while looking hard at the first, "What's time to a hog?"

Paul Loftin in the Panhandle Herald: Texas Tech regents would do the state a favor by selecting Dr. M. R. (Nig) Calliham of Carson County as the new dean of the Texas Tech agriculture department.

Dr. Calliham is currently dean of the West Texas State, Canyon, agriculture department and richly deserves the promotion to the Tech campus.

He is one of the great authorities on livestock and has the necessary background and common sense to surround himself with the highest type personnel who could head studies on vegetable growing and other irrigation crop problems.

Nig Calliham portrays the intelligence needed in today's business of farming and ranching. He is a Christian gentleman, a superb teacher and a wise agriculture counselor.

Everyone who fishes for bass hopes some day to land a grandpappy. Not that they are any better eating . . . it is just the pride in catching one bigger than you've ever taken before.

Well, if you've tried everything else, here is a suggestion that may be worth something. It has paid off. Whether it does for you may depend on luck as well as ability.

Some call it jigging. Actually it is just plain horsin.' You might call it bottom fishing with a heavy rig. But it does, occasionally, pay off with a big bass.

Naturally you must have good bass water. Always in bassy water there is an area that looks good, but is unworkable with light lines. You can do it, however, with a heavy rig.

The best spot is at the base of big tree trunks that stick out of the water, or where there is considerable brush under the water. Rig up your light salt water tackle, or use a good stiff action rod with a heavy reel loaded with from 20 to 30 pound test line.

The bait doesn't make too much difference, if it is something that will attract the bass. Right now some of the fishermen are using those black plastic worms or black eels. They have a good heavy sinker on the terminal that will take the bait to the bottom. After it has had a chance to settle down, work it only slightly and not too often. Just an occasional movement up and down. The chances are a big bass already has spotted it. He's not likely to be in a hurry to attack. You may spend a half-hour there, but don't take the lure out. Finally the old bruiser can't stand it any longer and he rushes it.

Set your hook and start up, all with the same motion. Don't give him a chance to wrap the line around a limb or crawl under a fence. More depends upon your retrieve than most anything else. That's the reason you need a good heavy line, one with which you can hoist him out.

When you are fishing for the big ones it is man against fish. If you land the fish you are the best. After you get him on the stringer find a new location and start all over again.

Will it work? Try it yourself.

There is another way you can use the same rig, except for the lure. This time use a deep running, large plug. You might even want a trailing jig. Troll it fast through good bass water, and deep. That's why you'll need the heavy equipment, so you can pull it deep.

This is being done every day on Texoma with wonderful results. You may not do it the first time, but the idea is worth a little practice.

Again, will it work? Again, try it.

Hawaiian Lures

Twenty-five years ago a fisherman in Ohio by the name of Fred Arbogast was testing out lures to see what effect they would have on catching fish. There was something about a Hawaiian skirt that intrigued him, so he made a skirt for an original lure and called it the Hawaiian Wiggler.

It didn't take long for this lure to catch on. Every man wanted one in his tackle box because it was a bass killer. Since that time, Fred has gone on to his reward, but his Hawaiian Wiggler lives on. More than 14 million of them have been sold.

This year a number of silver Wigglers have been made up for presentation to a few long-time users. I am proud to have one.

Gar Fishing

It won't be too long until gar fishing will be coming along again. Over near Madisonville they are catching some of these big tackle busters already. Recently two were taken in Blue Lake on the east side of the Trinity, about 25 miles northeast of Madisonville.

One of them weighed 118 pounds and the other 74, with more than a score of smaller ones.

The gars were taken in gill nets. However, they can be taken on rod and reel and there is plenty of fight in doing it.

Ice Fishing

We don't have ice fishing in this part of the country, but occasionally we do have some real chilly weather. Fishermen on Lake Texoma have found a way to help overcome some of the chill. They are using charcoal heaters in their boats.

Others use gasoline stoves for the same results.

While we believe in comfort, we hesitate to recommend a stove for a small boat. It's taking a lot of chance, especially in a boat where there is a gasoline tank or extra can of fuel.

Rocking of the boat, a gust of wind or even excitement while boating a fish could cause a terrible tragedy. If you've never seen a boat on fire in the middle of the lake, with its passengers struggling in the water, we can tell you it's not a pleasant sight.

Speaking of cold weather. Early morning fishing is chilly even in late Spring. If you want the big economy size of warmth — take along a Jon-e, jumbo-size warmer. It's a new self-starting, lighter-fluid type of handwarmer, only it's giant size.

Aladdin Laboratories of Minneapolis has just produced this big one, patterned after their famous lighter-size hand-warmer. It has an easy starting, no flame heater, and also serves as a handy cigarette lighter. I'm told they also have a belt that you wear close to the body for real cold days. Resembles an old-time money belt and has two pockets in the back for inserting the warmers.

Natural

"Lifelike and true-to-nature" is how Burke's Flexo-Products Co. refers to their new Flexo-Lures.

They now produce everything from artificial red ants, to floating frogs and the most "natural" eels. Especially "tempting" is their Flex-Minnow for spinning, trolling or casting. Sure hard to tell 'em from the real McCoy.

Hereford, Tex., Man Reports—
2 Bale Per Acre Cotton
Using Phillips 66 Ammonia

J. F. Martin, who farms 1,720 acres near Hereford, Tex., says: "I put down Phillips 66 ammonia pre-plant on my irrigated cotton and made 2 bales to the acre. I also use Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia on my wheat and maize land with good results."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin . . . yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested . . . and profits on wheat are increased through better forage and higher yields of grain.

Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia contains 82% nitrogen and gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of commercial fertilizer available.

Blackwell, Mrs. Gort Rushmer, Mrs. Mildred Harris, Mrs. Ray Metcalf, Mrs. Dudley Moore Sr., Mrs. Crews Henry, Mrs. J. C. Newton, Mrs. A. M. Cunningham, Mrs. Ed Money, and Mrs. Bill Money.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Tragedy

Tragedy struck in the Rogers' household last week. Peppi passed away. Peppi was the dog, but he was as near a member of a human household as an animal could be. Although he showed deep affection for all of us, his favorite was obviously Mrs. Rogers in whom he had the most complete faith and trust.

He would romp and play with all of the children, but when he was in trouble or needed someone to understand him, he would bypass all of us and go to Jean. According to the veterinarian, he contracted some kind of virus and was just never able to shake it off. No one gave up hope until the very last, but it just seemed to be God's will.

As one of the children put it, "I don't know whether there is a dog heaven, but I am sure that if there is, that's where Peppi has gone."

Anonymous Letters

It is not unusual for members of Congress to get anonymous or unsigned letters. Some of these have threatening tones, others may be critical of some particular division of the government or private industry, while others express opinions and feelings concerning current issues.

Sometimes the letters contain statements of reasons why they are not signed, or a fictitious signature is used. These reasons vary all the way from fear of retaliation from those being criticized or threatened, to lack of desire of being associated with the subject matter.

The signatures range all the way from none at all to such titles as "irate taxpayer," "a friend," "constitutional advocate," fighter for freedom," "anti-socialist," "interested American," "confirmed states righter" and others. The most recent of this type of letter coming into my office was signed, "A. Tneutitsnoc."

The subject matter had to do with the need for tax reform. The letter started off by pointing out that the writer was one of the "little" men of this country. I continued to read the letter and found that he was deeply disturbed about a publication which pointed out several different types of alleged loopholes in the tax laws that were available to people in the high income brackets.

The writer proceeded to condemn such practices on the part of those enjoying large incomes, while bemoaning the fact that there is no escape hatch for the so-called "little" fellow whose taxes are deducted from his pay check. Certainly, the writer of that letter had an excellent point, and one in which I have been interested for a long time.

The people of this country have always been most willing to pay whatever taxes were necessary for the proper defense of the country and the conduct of the Constitutional form of government under which we are supposed to operate.

However, they all feel that the tax burden should be spread equally and that some select few should not have access to concessions that are not available to all. The tremendously heavy burden of taxation that has been the lot of the U. S. citizen for the past several years makes it all the more necessary that every possible effort be made to afford the so-called "little" people tax relief.

I was starting out to write my views on the subject to the party above-named when my secretary discovered that there was no address and that the signature on the letter was not the name of anyone, but was "a constituent" spelled backward.

Frankly, I would appreciate it if everyone who writes would sign their name. Whether we agree or disagree on a subject, we live in a country where every citizen has the right to express himself without fear of retaliation. I feel very deeply about the freedom of speech and I do hope no one will hesitate to sign their right name to any mail addressed to my office.

The President's Press Conference

The newspapers here have praised the President's recent press conference. They take the position that the President came forth with some affirmative views for the first time in several of these conferences—the most notable being the President's position with relation to our future activities in moving into outer space.

The columnists and commentators seem to think that the President's position on this subject, in conjunction with the excellent results that have been attained by the Army and Navy in putting satellites in orbit, will do so very much toward regaining the "face" that we lost because Russia was the first to accomplish entry into outer space.

The great fear that seemed to engulf many of our people immediately after the Russians sent up their two "sputniks" seems to have calmed, and it is generally conceded now that we were not nearly so far behind as some propagandists would have had us believe.

School Activities?

By Dana Wilbanks

Guest Editorial Writer

The place that activities have in school life and the part that they should play in education is rapidly becoming one of the most discussed questions in regard to education. To help answer this question we must look at the benefits of activities.

In athletics the young people learn the value of sacrifice and hard work. Band and chorus teach the students to appreciate and interpret good music, which is certainly a wonderful attitude. The various clubs and organizations in our school help students to broaden their interest in a particular subject and to give them vocational training.

Activities as a whole give to students a practical application of the education they receive from books. In activities the students may use their own originality with the guidance of a trained sponsor or teacher.

These wonderful benefits can be offset by only one or two harmful points, however. Activities that are placed above all other ones can undo much of the good that activities do. The over-emphasis of an activity or various activities in relationship to school work is a dangerous force that must not be allowed to enter a school.

There is enough variety in the activity program to reach the interests of every student in our school. The students who don't participate in any activities seem to be more prone to neglect studying than the young people who engage in several activities. This tells us that the question should not be, "Do students have time for both activities and school work?" but "Do students use their time as they should?"

In our school I feel that the benefits of activities far outweigh the harmful points. If studies are not being done conscientiously it is little or no fault of the school activities.

Maggie's Corner

Open house at WT was held April 13 for the Canyon High School Science Club. Dr. Roger Whealy, head of the chemistry department at WT, discussed briefly the course requirements for a chemistry major.

The students visited the various labs and saw many students at work with special equipment such as the spectrometer.

Special interest was given Science Club exes who are now chemistry students. They are Ted Briggs, Kerry Franklin and Raymond Haddock who are seniors studying physical chemistry. Jack McCormick is a junior studying organic chemistry.

Three bands playing a total of 15 numbers participated in a concert given Tuesday, April 1. Mr. Herman W. Demus, director, and Mr. Dan B. Stallings, assistant director, were in charge.

This concert is an annual affair. Two of the numbers played by the high school band were "The Show Boy March" and "American Folk Rhapsody" and will be played in the Interscholastic League contest April 24 at WTSC.

A marching contest will be held also with 56 students from CHS participating.

The band plans to participate in a band contest at Borger Thursday.

Barbara was chosen as a member of the All-Star Cast in the Interscholastic League play contest. She was chosen after playing the role of Abby in the play, "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Balance Needed In Education

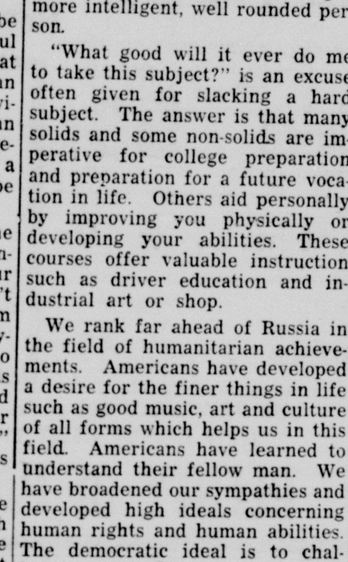
In recent months with the realization of Russia's increased scientific skill, many Americans advocate more specialization and more required solid subjects in public schools to meet the Communistic challenge which has brought about a fast change in the curriculum offered in many schools.

There are two things, however, which reduce the force of these demands to a mere whimper. First, it is only natural that Russia produce more scientists than we do because she has a much larger population.

Secondly, a nation cannot exist if everyone is a scientist or mathematician. In the public schools in America, the rather wide choice of electives is important in preparing the students for varied vocations. This also helps develop a more intelligent, well rounded person.

"What good will it ever do me to take this subject?" is an excuse often given for slacking a hard subject. The answer is that many solids and some non-solids are imperative for college preparation and preparation for a future vocation in life. Others aid personally by improving you physically or developing your abilities. These courses offer valuable instruction such as driver education and industrial art or shop.

We rank far ahead of Russia in the field of humanitarian achievements. Americans have developed a desire for the finer things in life such as good music, art and culture of all forms which helps us in this field. Americans have learned to understand their fellow man. We have broadened our sympathies and developed high ideals concerning human rights and human abilities. The democratic ideal is to challenge each individual to develop to his best and most skilled self. We delight in helping others in need.



SONDRA HINES

Hines Nominated For English Test

Sondra Hines, CHS junior, has been nominated to compete for the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards. All schools with below 500 students are allowed one nominee. Sondra was selected as Canyon's representative on the basis of her previous work in English.

She will begin preparing for the test that will be given next fall when she becomes a senior. If she is one of the 435 winners or one of the 435 runners-up she will be recommended to compete for college scholarships.

There are many qualifications which Sondra must be able to meet. She is expected to write clearly and effectively and be able to express herself freely through her writing which also means knowing and applying all the rules of grammar. She must be able to read exceptionally well and to have read widely.

Sondra will send in her materials for the contest by May 1. In her material will be included letters of recommendation from an English teacher, school administrator and from another person selected by Sondra; a 250 word autobiography of herself; a sample of her recent writing written in class and one written out of class.

Sondra has been quite active during her three years in CHS. She plays in the band, has been on the band council and is presently a squad leader for the band. She has been a member for two years in the Science Club and FHA. This year she was selected for the National Honor Society and as a Junior Who's Who. She also belongs to the Rainbows.

Active in church work, she is vice president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and president of the World Friendship Group of Girls.

She plans to go to college and probably major in biology and will later do research work or become a teacher.

On March 21 and September 23, day and night are of equal duration in every part of the world.

Rev. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who brought the invocation; Mr. Oscar Schuette, class sponsor; Mr. J. McDonnough, guest speaker from Amarillo Junior College; and Dwayne Ledbetter, junior class president, chat at the head table during the junior-senior banquet.The banquet was held in the all-purpose room of the grade school March 29.

Egyptian Costumes, Oriental Music Basis for Junior-Senior Banquet

Barefoot girls were seen at the Canyon Elementary School building March 29. Here the Junior-Senior Banquet was presented. Yes, when the dancing became too tiresome many of the girls kicked off their high heels.

The all-purpose rooms were decorated in the theme of "Arabian Nights." There were white tables sprinkled with blue glitter and set with blue candles. The centerpieces consisted of "flying carpets" set with a jar containing blue water with rotating moth balls. Palm trees were set against a background on the wall of stars and rolling hills.

Oriental music was played as the guests entered. They were greeted by the sophomore waitresses clad in Egyptian-like costumes.

On the menu was meat on sticks, asparagus, potatoes, salad, rolls, date delight and tea.

Rev. Doyle Ragle gave the invocation. The welcome was given by Larry Kitchens, and the response was given by Jim Fanning.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. J. McDonnough, head of the speech department of Amarillo College.

Mrs. H. R. Fulton and Mr. Royal Brantley sang "Desert Song" accompanied by Mr. H. R. Fulton. After their song, dancing was held with the music furnished by the Sultans of Swing.

America Not First With Fool's Day

April's Fool Day in India has traced back as far as 1563. The feast of Huli is celebrated in April by sending people on foolish errands. Another theory stated that it is a legend of the Roman Cerealia, held at the beginning of April. The legend said that Proserpina had filled her lap with daffodils in the Elysian meadows. Pluto found her and though she was screaming carried her to the lower world. Her mother, Ceres, heard the echoes of her daughter and went in search of her. This was like a fool's errand, for it was impossible to find the echo.

In France following the adoption of the reformed calendar the custom which was to see and visit people on April 1 was changed to playing pranks. In Scotland the April Fools are called April Gowks the gowk being a cuckoo.

When the pilgrims came to America they brought with them the April fool custom. Boys are usually the ones observing this day. Cards with "kick me" are often found on boys while their companions who had placed them there, doubled in laughter as they watched. Then, too, there is the trick of nailing a purse to the floor and then watching various people try to pick it up.

For those of you who like candy try taking cotton balls, dipping them in chocolate and passing them to your friends. Unless they are fond of "cotton candy," you might have a hard time keeping from laughing as they try to pull the "mess" from their mouths.

In New York City the zoos and aquariums had to disconnect their phones because of pranksters calling and wanting to speak to "Mr. Fish" or "Mr. Camel."

Brown Is Gifted In School Studies

Among senior personalities, Barbara Brown is one of the outstanding girls in our school. With her winning personality and jolly smile she has won many friends.

Barbara is interested in sports and music of all kinds. She has played on the varsity basketball, volleyball and tennis teams. An outstanding musician, she plays the organ, piano and cornet. She is organist for the First Presbyterian Church. She sings in the CHS choir and has played first chair cornet in the band. In the WT Music Festival, she has attained seven firsts and three seconds.

As a freshman she was chosen class favorite. She was elected to Junior Who's Who and NHS. Barbara is a member of FTA, FHA and the Science Club. She was nominated for Fall Festival Queen.

Academically she is one of the top seniors and has received the English and math awards. Her favorite subjects have been math and science.

Barbara was also seen in the senior play this year.

As a district officer in the Westminster Fellowship, she is active in church work. She serves as devotional chairman of the CCYC as well.

Seniors Produce Successful Play

With the final curtain of the senior play a shout arose from the play cast. The big event which had meant so much to the cast was over.

The play, which was different from the general run of senior plays, was a tremendous success and drew many compliments on the acting and sound effects.

The seniors, showing their appreciation to their directors, Mrs. Dan Sanders, Mr. G. D. Inman, Mrs. T. L. Devin and Miss Marilyn A. Payne, presented them with gifts. Mrs. Sanders was presented a cut glass candy dish and Mr. Inman was given a shirt and two pairs of socks. Mrs. Devin received a large milk glass fruit bowl and Miss Payne was given a filigree jewelry box with a mother of pearl top and a velvet lining.

The gifts, which were presented between the first and second acts, caused quite a stir. Mrs. Sanders was on stage, the stage was not set, people were wandering around and everything was wrong when the curtain suddenly opened. Mrs. Devin and Miss Payne in the audience groaned, thinking a mistake had been made and Mrs. Sanders nearly got run over in the rush to clear the stage. All were surprised when the gifts were brought out.

Proceeds of the play, approximately $280, will go to the senior class to help on their senior trip to Galveston in May.

Students Tested For Bookkeeping

Thirty-six CHS juniors and seniors took the National Bookkeeping Examination April 1. The test is given to students all over the U. S. to see how they compare with others.

Taking the test were Delores Wagner, Sally Foster, Joy Rose, Kay Kennedy, Weldon Prichard, Traverne Gillham, Vickie Wiggins, Cathy Morris, Patsy Schrib, Gwen Kelso, Bonnell Riley, Louise Higdon, Suzanne Lemons, Eddie Boydstun, Ann Jarrett, Joe Albracht, Dana Wilbanks, Kenneth Engle, Nancy Wiggins, Brenda Hembree, Bill Glenn.

Dana's favorite subject is speech. He was in the one-act contest play and won first place in the ready writing contest.

Active in sports, Dana has played football and basketball for four years. He has also received the English and typing awards, and is a member of NHS and Junior Who's Who.

Menke Wins With Sports Column; Annual, Newspaper Take Honors

John Menke received a first place trophy in sports column writing and an honorable mention in editorial writing at the Panhandle High chool Press Association conference March 25 held at WTSC. The Eagle's Tale placed second in the community page newspaper division, and the Soaring Wings placed second in the Class B annual division. The contest entries were judged by the staff of The Denver Post.

John has been active in the field of journalism for two years. He was elected editor of The Eagle's Tale for the entire year and was news editor last year. He is treasurer of PHSPA this year and was re-elected for next year. John is always busy making assignments, working on layouts, writing stories and when he is not doing this one may find him going over his bookkeeping for PHSPA. In his spare time he is busy studying for the regional journalism contest to be held at Lubbock April 19.

John plays the clarinet, guitar, accordion, piano and organ. His hobby is music and sports. He is a member of the National Honor Society and Junior Who's Who. He is parliamentarian for the junior class.

Along with John the following students and teachers from Canyon attended the PHSPA meeting: Lloyd Mann, Nancy McCormick, Marilyn Davis, Margaret Johnson, Pat Downing, Miss Marilyn A. Payne and Mrs. Nora Gilmore.

Miss Margaret Mayer, Austin correspondent for four Texas metropolitan daily newspapers, spoke to the convention concerning her work. She hold how a versatile journalist must be well informed on all types of subjects. Miss Mayer said in her news coverage that she has had to report on many different things and has faced many barriers in getting news. She reported on her visit to Russia and told how there were no extra curriculum activities provided.

Dr. James P. Cornette welcomed the more than 400 students who attended. He reminded the journalists of their responsibility of making the United States a better place in which to live.

Lunch was held in the college cafeteria, and Mr. Ernest Joiner, editor of the Ralls Banner, gave the afternoon speech. Mr. Joiner told the students the newspaper business is in need of new talents, ideas and courage. He stated that he felt the community should be obligated to the newspaper. This raised a bit of disagreement and discussion from the staff after the meeting ended.

Lloyd Mann Is Called to Pastorship; Has Been an Outstanding Student

Lloyd Mann, senior, has been called to be pastor of the Fairview Baptist Church which is located 13 miles east of Happy on the Wayside road. Lloyd received notice of his call on April 1 and will assume the responsibilities immediately.

Lloyd plans to preach through the summer and may have every fifth Sunday off if he wants it. He came to Canyon at the beginning of this school year from Ponca City, Okla., where he had been pastor of the Washunga Baptist Chapel for eight months. He was licensed to preach at the unusual age of 14 and was ordained into the ministry in 1957.

His father, Rev. Aaron D. Mann, was a chaplain in the army for many years and is now pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Canyon.

Lloyd has traveled widely. He was in Japan just after World War II and his family was the first white people to visit many areas of Japan. He has also been to Mexico and traveled through many states in the U. S.

During one year in CHS he has made many accomplishments. He is school chaplain, played the bass fiddle for the Amarillo Symphony, made All-State Choir, was elected president of the CCYC, won first place in extemporaneous speaking and is co-editor of The Eagle's Tale.

Before coming to Canyon Lloyd made All-State symphony for three years. He became First Assistant-in-Chief of the Oklahoma State Royal Ambassadors. He has also acquired the highest rank obtainable in that organization. He received the Asian Award, a national music award for outstanding musicians. He also received two scholarship pens for having an above "A" average in school.

Fanning Nominee For Best Actor

Jim Fanning who played Uriah Vinton in the senior play is the senior nominee for the best actor of 1957-58. The announcement was made Thursday afternoon after school.

This honor was given Jim for his outstanding portrayal of an old inhabitant of Badger Bend. His part was one of contrasts as an old frightened man hides to find secrets others can't find and then turns to a romantic hero as the climax builds and tries his hand at romance.

The committee who chose the nominee was composed of Mrs. Cecil Simms, speech instructor; Mrs. W. E. Miller, a local citizen; and Mrs. Lee Foster, a teacher. The selection was based on certain qualities a good actor should have: memorizing lines, audible speech, staying in character, cooperation and work with the director and having rapport and empathy with the audience.

Jim is active in school affairs as president of the senior class. In this capacity he serves on most of the important committees that keep the class going and in its prominent place in the school. He is also president of the Choral Club.

In choir, he is a member of the senior mixed quartet and the All-Region Choir. As a junior he was a junior Red Cross representative. At mid-term this year, Jim had an average academically of 89.39.

The best actor of the year will be announced by Prin. J. E. Miller at the annual awards assembly to be held Tuesday, May 13. Each year the winner's name is engraved on a beautiful Best Actor trophy.

The junior nominee is Roy Harris.

Wilbanks' Career Is in Ministry

Dana Wilbanks, one of the several "preacher's kids" in CHS, is an outstanding student both academically and in his personality.

Following in his father's footsteps, Dana plans to become a minister himself. His father is associate pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Amarillo. Dana is moderator of the Westminster Fellowship as well as of his local church now. Ahead of him he has his college work at Trinity University in San Antonio and seminary work.

Marilyn Davis, Carolyn Campbell, Wanda Crutchfield, Rita Grabbe, Jim Fanning, Barbara Brown, Roy Hunter, Beverly Henson, Rachel Smith, Janet Wheeler, Lynda Burkett, Mary Gladys Marshall, Joyce Shelnutt and Joy McMeans.

Winners will receive trophies and certificates at the end of the year.

Eagle Views

The CHS Eaglettes volleyball team advanced through the district tournament last and wound up the new district winners for this year. They drew a bye the first round and played Tulia in the second. Playing Tulia Canyon lost the first game, 9-15, won the second 15-10 and won the third game, 15-12. They then played and beat Muleshoe in the finals. They won the first game 15-10, lost the second, 10-15, and won the deciding game, 15-13.

The first team is composed of Barbara Brown, Lynda Burkett, Traverne Gillham, Joy Rose, Marilyn Winn, and Wynona Yarbrough. Joyce Barker, Vicki Wiggins and Shella Caldwell are the alternates.

The Canyon Eagles track team placed fourth in the district finals Friday by compiling 19 points.

The most exciting event of the day for Canyon came in the last meet which was the mile relay run. Dalhart was highly favored to win the event but Canyon got off to a fast start and led almost all the way to finish in 3:40.9 while Dalhart dropped into fourth place. The team was composed of Dwayne Ledbetter, Tommy Henderson, Eddie Boydstun and Jerry Richardson.

In other events, Richard Burgess took first in the discus throw and fourth in the shot putt, the 440 yard relay team came in second, Jerry Richardson won third in the 440 yard dash and sophomore Jerry Smyrl ran the mile in 5:06.35 to take third.

Barbara Brown beat Ruth Hutton of Dalhart to take the girl's singles tennis district title for Canyon. Other girl entries were Winn and Green, while Mac Boswell, Alan Hanks and Mike Wheeler entered in the boy's tennis games.

A special appeal is going out for listing of combines and trucks.

Those who have items for sale should phone or write Foster Whaley, county agent at Claude, to list the items. Deadline for listing is April 10.

Handbills will be distributed in the area giving the list of items for the sale.

Spelling Champion

Frances Stocker, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stocker of Umbarger, was runner-up to Nancy Purcell, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Purcell of Amarillo Route 4, in the Randall County Spelling Bee. Nancy, in her fourth year in the Bee, won the championship by spelling "delicatessen" and "delinquency." Frances was competing in her second year in the Bee.

Symbols are pretty important to some folks. Those who don't believe in them should think on the New Jersey schoolteacher. Retiring after herding other people's brats through readin,' writin,' and 'rithmetic for 32 years, she wants her desk to take home! You'd think she would want to get as far from the schoolroom atmosphere as her tired legs would carry her. But she has asked and received permission from school officials to have the desk.

Seems kind of silly, doesn't it? The desk probably isn't even a pretty piece of furniture. It may have many scars and ink stains from long, hard use. Worst of all, you might say, it will remind her constantly of teaching.

Yet anyone who has ever worked with youngsters will understand. The schoolroom desk becomes home base. It is where the perennial Susie's gift of purple iris is placed—in a peanut butter jar — each spring; where the young congressman, when a kid, laid a big red apple one Friday, and 20 years later returned to say hello.

In its middle drawer have been kept a collection of pea shooters, broken dice, fishing lures and other miscellany, taken away from mischievous boys, and varying little through the years. In the bottom drawer on the left, pushed well to the back, lie a few dreams — notes for stories she never had time to write; kind letters from a few special parents; vacation folders; the picture of the house she once hoped to build.

Then there's another factor, too. Whoever follows her in the job really takes her place at the old desk; with a new desk there, it isn't quite the same.

Symbols aren't silly. Sentimental, yes; but what's wrong with a little sentiment now and then?

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dowd and daughters of Happy left Thursday to visit Mrs. Dowd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Frazier of Waco.

To Which Extreme Are You Nearest...?

Some people go years without much attention to health. Others may need the Doctor on hand to start the day—every day. Between these two extremes are great numbers of thinking people caring for their health in an orderly manner.

They see their Doctor at regular intervals for guidance. They take the medicine he prescribes according to direction. They report unusual symptoms promptly. All these are common sense precautions and intelligent steps in health care, as is the practice of bringing your Doctor's prescriptions to this fine pharmacy.
